Accused Wartime Spy Ring Head Silent On Red Status

Perlo Refuses To Tell Whether He's Communist

Also Refuses To Tell Whether He Knew Elizabeth Bentley Accuser

DELAY TESTIMONY BY STAR WITNESS

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—Victor Perlo, accused of heading a wartime Soviet spy ring, admitted today he had been investigated as a security risk and asked to resign from the government.

Perlo, who refused to tell the House Un-American activities committee whether he is or has been a Communist, testified that he resigned "of my own volition" about "four or five months" after he was asked to quit.

Progressive Party Statistician The witness, who now is a statistician for Henry Wallace's Progressive party, was confronted by his accuser, Elizabeth Bentley. He refused to say whether he knew her.

Later, he was excused temporarily and Miss Bentley took the witness stand. She repeated her charge that Perlo was a leader of a Soviet espionage ring in wartime Washington.

Like Nathan Gregory Silvermaster, also named by Miss Bentley as a Russian spy, Perlo based his refusal to acknowledge knowing the woman or Communist membership on the ground that either admission might incriminate him.

Pa Newc Observes

City workmen have been extremely busy the past few days replacing burned-out bulbs on downtown traffic lights. Lights have had to be replaced in the signal at East and East Washington and at Mercer and East Washington.

An extremely strange cargo was observed by Pa News in the downtown section of the city Saturday evening. A truck hauling rubbish also carried about a dozen pairs of crutches scattered throughout the load, aiding in keeping it in place. Evidently a doctor's office had been cleaned out.

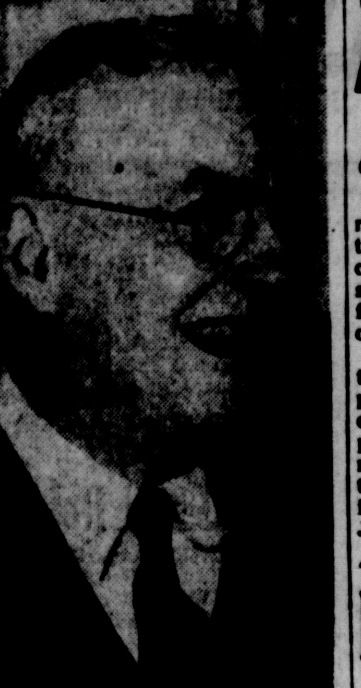

If leaders of the oil industry have their way, a commemorative three-cent postage stamp will be issued next year marking the 50th anniversary of the first well drilled for oil in the U. S. at Titusville.

Pa News: Viewed from Sheep Hill at 4:30 o'clock Sunday morning the northern lights were a spectacular sight, appearing like hundreds of huge searchlights that converged to a point directly overhead like the spokes of a giant wheel. The light beams in the northwest were tinted of greenish blue-white in the north, pale lavender in the northeast. Waves of white light rose rapidly from the northern horizon, and occasionally a beam of light blazed upward the sky like a distant beacon. Except for a thin fog lifting in the Oakland district the sky was crystal clear. The starry mass in the east was extremely bright and as large as a baseball. Andrew Glerard, 106 Charter street.

Freight Wreck Blocks Tracks

B. and O. Mainline At New Castle Junction Tied Up For Seven Hours Sunday

NO PERSON IS HURT IN CRASH

Mainline tracks of the B. & O. Railroad at New Castle Junction were tied up for seven hours, early Sunday morning, when a freight wreck derailed four cars, and spilled merchandise onto the right of way. No person was injured in the crash.

According to Acting Terminal Trainmaster James Shaughnessy, the wreck occurred, when a yard engine, pulling out of a switch track, ran into the side of No. 97, a merchandise train, which was pulling out of the yards enroute for its run to Chicago. The merchandise train was hit in the middle.

In addition to the four cars which were derailed, damage was done to sixty other cars.

Passenger trains over the mainline tracks, were detoured over the P. & L. E. line, which parallels the B. & O. tracks, and only a slight delay occurred to passenger service on through trains, Mr. Shaughnessy stated.

Wreckage Of Plane Lost In November Discovered In Alps

Plane Carried 22 Persons; Flight Was From Pisa, Italy To Frankfurt, Germany

WIESBADEN, Aug. 9.—(INS)—Air force officials today said the icy grip of the Alps may prolong recovery of a wrecked U. S. C-47 transport plane for more than a week.

The plane, carrying 22 persons, vanished last November on a flight from Pisa, Italy, to Frankfurt. The wreckage was discovered by Italian ski patrols two days ago in the snow-covered Alps mountains south of Turin.

A special C-47 carrying a mountain climbing team, technicians and investigators, left today for Cuneo, Italy, near the scene of the crash.

Latest reports said the clothing of two officers and the effects of the only woman passenger, as well as belongings of the pilots, already have been found strewn around the wreckage.

The fact that only two bodies have been discovered appears to support the theory that many survivors lived a few days before inevitable death in the glacial wilderness.

Italian patrols which found the plane believe these bodies may be entombed under snow drift still several feet high.

Wage Policy Committee Members Are Elected At U.S.A. Sessions Here

Four steelworkers, one a local man, were elected for a two-year term Sunday on the wage policy committee, most important issue scheduled for the third annual conference of the United Steelworkers of America of District 21.

As the second day sessions of the conference got underway at 2 p. m. in The Castleton ballroom, district director John W. Grajciar, presiding chairman, announced the names of the following men, given the distinction and honor of serving on this committee. They are Jack McCombs of New Castle, Louis Puskar of Sharon, Anthony Zaborowski of Titusville and Victor Phillips of Erie, Pa.

The election of the wage policy committee is always an important function in any conference. The number of committeemen, which in District 21 is four, is based upon the numerical strength of the district. The primary function of the committee is to formulate national policy in respect to wage agreements.

Principal speaker on Sunday afternoon was Henry Boyer of Harrisburg. (Continued on Page Twelve)

Palestine Truce Is Threatened

JERUSALEM, Aug. 9.—(INS)—New Arab-Jewish violence threatened to disrupt the truce in Palestine today.

The thud of exploding mortar shells and the crackle of rifle and machine gun fire echoed continuously throughout Jerusalem. Israeli forces were ordered to retaliate against "unprovoked Arab attacks" of the cease fire, and the possibility of large-scale action was hinted.

Faced with the flagrant violations of the truce, Palestine Mediator Count Folke Bernadotte ordered 13 more United Nations observers to the Holy City, and planned to survey it himself today.

Meanwhile, the Jewish military governor of Jerusalem, Dr. Bernard Joseph, formerly of Montreal, replied to a United States protest over the wounding of Marine Constable Guard Joseph Przytowski, 28, of Chester, Pa.

Two hundred chickens were needed to supply meat, and four bushels of potatoes. The entire group of 700 diners were all served within twenty minutes after the dinner and waiters, used to serving 600 daily, had taken in stride the extra hundred diners.

Senator Urges Congress Meet After Election

"Non-Political" Session In November Urged By Senator Morse

SPECIAL SESSION ENDED SATURDAY

By FRANK B. ALLEN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—Sen. Moore (R) Ore., asked congressional leaders today to call a "non-political" session in November. Morse declared that such a session could function effectively after the November election silences political strife.

The Republican made the suggestion as members returned home from the special session and President Truman reportedly prepared a statement blasting them for failure to enact his legislation program.

Truman To Sign It was reported that Mr. Truman will sign reluctantly the mild GOP anti-inflation and housing bills and issue a statement denouncing them as inadequate.

The 13-day special session which ended Saturday night ignored the President's demands for wage-price controls and standby rationing authority.

Congress adjourned until Dec. 31 but there was talk of an early start by whatever administration is elected in November.

Acting Majority Leader Wherry (R) Neb., hinted that a special session is possible. He declared that "if the occasion requires it I am sure that the leadership will comply" by summoning Congress back.

U. N. Session In United States Ends August 21

By PIERRE J. NUSS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Aug. 9.—The Soviet attack accusing the west of deliberately blocking world disarmament is expected to open today at Lake Success.

The major organs of the 58-nation organization, meeting the last two weeks in the United States before adjourning for their Paris meeting, have decided to end their sessions beginning August 21.

Both Soviet Delegate Yakov A. Malik and Britain's Sir Alexander Cadogan have booked passage for August 21.

Unless major world developments compel earlier reconvening of the security council, its next meeting after Aug. 21 will be in Paris, where the general assembly begins the annual session Sept. 21. But the next two weeks are loaded with wind-up activity and scarcely a day will pass without a brush between the Soviet bloc and the western factions led by the United States.

Report Tito Seeking To Win Back Stalin's Favor

By KINGSBURY SMITH
(European General Manager U. S. S. I.)
BELGRADE, Aug. 9.—(Marshall Tito was reliably reported today attempting to win back Stalin's favor.

The Yugoslav chief is believed to have entrusted his deputy foreign minister, Alois Bebler, with the delicate task of wooing Andrei Y. Vishinsky, deputy Soviet foreign minister, as a preliminary step.

The routine now being followed is a standard one. Vishinsky, in Belgrade for the Danube conference, is being wined, dined and flattered by the Yugoslavs. At the same time he is being given their protests of undying loyalty to Stalin.

Yugoslav Foreign Minister Stanoye Simitch threw a party for the Soviet diplomat Saturday night. The chiefs of the Soviet bloc delegations to the conference were invited to the party.

Renew Demands For Information About Remington

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—(INS)—Sen. Ferguson (R) Mich., renewed his demands on Attorney General Clark and President Truman today for FBI loyalty information on William Remington.

Ferguson, chairman of a Senate investigating committee, told Clark that the group is "unanimous" in its demand for the files on Remington, suspended commerce official charged with helping a Russian spy ring.

The Senator, who suggested Saturday that impeachment of Mr. Truman may be the only way of securing such data, wrote Clark a letter which he asked to be forwarded to the White House "at once."

Ferguson said he had written the attorney general again "to make certain that there is no misunderstanding as to what the committee wants and why we want it."

Ferguson pointed out that Remington moved from one government job to another long after he was accused of having given secret information to a Communist spy.

Western Envoys Again Prepare To Talk To Molotov

Have Conference In Preparation For Expected Third Kremlin Visit

NO INDICATION OF BLOCKADE RELAXING (BULLETIN)

MOSCOW, Aug. 9.—(INS)—The three western ambassadors again called tonight on Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov in the negotiations on German problems.

U. S. Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith, French Ambassador Yves Chateignau, and Frank Roberts, special envoy for British Foreign Secretary Bevin, entered the Kremlin at 5 p. m. (10 a. m. EDT).

By NATALIA BENE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, Aug. 9.—The three western ambassadors in Moscow conferred today before an expected third Kremlin visit regarding the German controversy.

Frank Roberts, special envoy of British Foreign Secretary Bevin, and French Ambassador Yves Chateignau went to the U. S. embassy at noon to talk with U. S. Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith. Indications point to another session with Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov later today.

Envoys To Be Kept Secret

But there was little expectation that any results of the current West negotiations will be made public immediately. What little information that leaked out from the security blackout indicated that many more conferences will be needed before basic agreements are achieved.

Envoys of the United States, Britain, and France reportedly received new instructions from their governments over the weekend. They are expected to ask for another interview with Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov today to present the West's latest proposals.

Blockade Not Relaxed

Meanwhile, there was no indication that the Berlin blockade will be relaxed to speed the negotiations. The Moscow Literary Gazette, in one of the few current Soviet comments on Berlin, insisted that the blockade is a "legend."

Informed diplomatic quarters believe that Molotov, in his meeting with the western representatives Friday night, flatly refused to lift the blockade, with the west yields its plans to set up a separate west German state.

It is thought that Molotov presented a list of Soviet conditions for the ending of a virtual siege of Berlin, and that the western envoys will give their governments' replies at their next meeting.

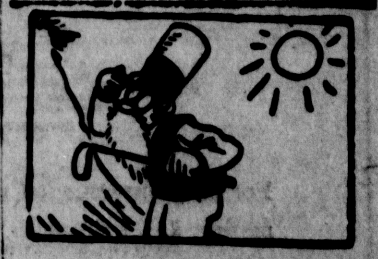

Neither side, it is said, has thus far indicated a willingness to bud from previously proclaimed positions.

Industry Remains At Highest Peak For State In June

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Aug. 8.—(INS)—Industrial activity in Pennsylvania for June remained at the post-war peak established in May and was at the best level on record for the month, according to the Bureau of Business Research at the Pennsylvania State College.

The index of industrial activity, which is based on coal production, employment hours in manufacturing, and industrial power sales, stood at 155 in both June and May as compared to 141 in June, 1947. The peak month of the war, July 1943, had an index of 302.

Measured in percentages, activity in June was 6 per cent above that of a year ago and for the first half of 1948, was 3 per cent above that of the first half of last year.

With coal and steel contracts signed, the bureau pointed out that the outlook is for very high production in the state for the remainder of the year. There is no evidence, the bureau explained, that either the coal or steel industry will show a decline in demand for the balance of 1948.

Bituminous coal production in June was very heavy, being exceeded by only one year (1944) in the past 20 years. Mard coal output was the best since the end of the war while steel production exceeded all records in a peacetime year.

With the advances in steel and other materials, however, comes an indication of another round of wholesale and retail price increases. Living costs now are estimated at 72.4 per cent above pre-war level and the bureau pointed out that only food costs, and that some months in the future, appear to have any possibility of decline in the next year.

General Decline In Relief Load

HARRISBURG, Aug. 9.—(INS)—The Department of Public Assistance today said overall employment conditions are favorable and point to a general decline in Pennsylvania's relief load "for several months."

The department's prediction was made in its report that a decline of 552 persons during the week ended July 31 had reduced the rolls to 298,684.

The announcement only reflected the decline in general assistance since the department recapitulates aid to dependent children, old age assistance or blind pensions on a monthly basis.

The department said general assistance rolls, a reliable indicator of employment, now contain 1700 fewer cases than at the low point of 1947 which was not reached until November.

the new deal in 1933, as a national recovery administration statistician.

He was called as a witness in the Soviet spy probe when testimony of the mysterious Alexander Koral was delayed.

Koral, who has been described as the man who will break the Communist spy case "wide open," was excused until 2 p. m. (EDT) because of the absence of his lawyer.

Perlo told the committee that he stands upon his constitutional rights and declined to say whether he was a Communist or had ever been a Communist. He did so, he stated, on advice of his counsel on the ground that it "might tend to degrade and incriminate me."

Perlo was a witness before the New York grand jury which indicted 12 American Communist leaders on charges of conspiracy to overthrow the government.

Declines To Answer
The most dramatic moment in the hearing which is delving into charges that a Communist "underground" operated within the government during the war, came when Perlo was asked to stand and face his accuser, Miss Elizabeth Bentley.

Robert Stripling, the committee's chief investigator, abruptly halted his questioning of the reluctant witness, and said to Perlo: "Will you stand up, turn around, take off your glasses and tell me whether you know Miss Elizabeth Bentley."

Miss Bentley, who has named Perlo in previous testimony as the head of a Communist spy group, stood up in the audience a few feet away from the witness. She was dressed in black.

The two stared steadily at each other.

Five Dollar Bill Snagged By Youth
LANCASTER, Pa., Aug. 9.—(INS)—A novel 35 angle embellishes the fish story being told today by 14-year-old Cyrus Dietrich of Ephrata, R. D.

It seems Cyrus was fishing in Little Conestoga creek with little success, the sucker and a white fish he caught were too small to keep.

He baited again and after a while, thinking the hook was bare, he reeled in and there was a wet but negotiable $5 bill.

At the conference table itself, Bebler has displayed an extremely ingratiating attitude toward the Soviets.

ST. LUCY'S CHURCH SCENE OF WEDDING

St. Lucy's church was the scene of a lovely summer wedding, at 9 a. m. Saturday morning, August 7, when Miss Carolyn Piccirilli, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patsy Piccirilli, of South Lafayette street, became the bride of Peter Razzano, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Razzano, of South Wayne street. Rev. Sebastian Ippolito officiated at the double ring ceremony, in the presence of a large gathering of friends and relatives.

Given by her father-in-law, the bride was lovely in a gown of white slipper satin fashioned with a lace trimmed neckline, a tight bodice, buttoned down the back in tiny buttons, and a very full skirt which ended in a long court train. Her fingertip veil fell from a crown of orange blossoms and she carried a white bouquet of gladiolus and baby mums.

As maid of honor, Miss Margaret Russo wore a yellow tulle gown, fashioned with a bustle back and full skirt. As bridesmaids, Miss Nikolaena Razzano, sister of the groom, wore a pink tulle gown, and Miss Jean Zarrillo wore a blue tulle gown. All the attendants' gowns were fashioned identically and they all wore headpieces of baby mums to match their dresses and carried arm bouquets of the same flower and colors.

Peter Piccirilli, brother of the bride, served the groom as best man. Ushers were brother of the bride, Sam Piccirilli, and brother of the groom, Tony Razzano.

Following the ceremony there was a dinner for the immediate families and the bridal party at a local tearoom. In the evening there was a reception for over 400 guests at St. Margaret's Hall, following which the young couple left on a motor trip to New York City and other points of interest on the east coast.

Upon their return they will live in their newly furnished apartment on North Liberty street.

Both are graduates of the New Castle high school. Mrs. Razzano is employed at the Crescent Theatre and Mr. Razzano, a veteran of World War II, after spending four years in the U. S. Army, two of which were spent in the Pacific, is now employed at the Universal Pottery Co.

Miss Sartwell, the new grand worthy advisor, served as grand drill leader, and Miss Elyce Weyant of Assembly One here, served as grand page.

Mrs. Charles E. Allen, district deputy of District Two, served as chairman of the executive committee during the convention, being assisted in the latter duty by Miss Grace Corvill, the grand worthy advisor, and Miss Marston Whieldon, past grand worthy advisor.

NEW KIND OF CONQUEROR

The apparently genuine regrets expressed by the Japanese at the departure of General Robert L. Eichelberger marks a rare occurrence in the history of occupied countries, and is a real tribute to the conduct of American forces in Japan.

It might have been expected that a conquered people would be resentful toward a man who led an army that had much to do with their defeat, and who later was second in command of the forces which came in to rule them.

Nothing of the sort was evident in the case of General Eichelberger. Scores of Japanese, in and out of official positions, praised his administration his fairness, and his efforts to rebuild the country.

The praise for the departing general indicates that General MacArthur's administration at least has succeeded in avoiding the hatred of conquerors which often goes with occupation duties. Although the process must be slow, here is a hopeful sign that the ultimate aim—emergence of a peaceful democratic Japan from the ashes of the Empire—can be achieved.

U. S. MUST DOMINATE AIR

General Carl A. Spaatz, retiring chief of the United States Army Air Force, emphasizes the importance of this nation dominating the air for peace or in case of war.

In a talk in response to a public reception by his Berks county townsmen at Reading, General Spaatz said that the air, and not the sea, is the arena of future conflicts.

"It is consequently of the highest importance," General Spaatz said, "that the United States dominate the air as it formerly dominated the sea, and our air force must be the largest in the world."

General Spaatz is not an alarmist, but he has a vision of the future that is not entirely shared by some men in public life, who may have less foresight than the general.

General William Mitchell, a few years ago, urging the same preparedness, was the victim of superiors who later were forced to admit that they had made a mistake.

"SHOOT" MOTHER GOOSE

Recently there has been some criticism of comic books and their effect upon childish minds. It has been asserted they are at least partially responsible for juvenile delinquency and teen-age crime.

The result has been that many publishers have agreed to tone down their product and make it more in keeping with childish thought. The extent to which comic books are read is indicated by the sale of between 50,000,000 and 60,000,000 comic books every month.

Dr. Frederic Wertham, a noted New York psychiatrist, goes a bit further and declares children have had access to the wrong kind of literature for many years, including the Mother Goose stories. He insists these presumably innocent stories and jingles have filled childish minds with fear, and instilled habits of cruelty and dishonesty. He points out several outstanding examples of this sort.

The story of the old lady who lived in a shoe and whipped her children before sending them to bed has been responsible for many bad dreams. The farmer's wife who cut off the tails of mice inspires cruelty. The good doctor says there is no more brutal story in literature than Hans Christian Andersen's "The Tinderbox," read to children through many generations.

If Junior is a bad boy, it must be because he has been reading and listening to the wrong sort of literature.

JAPANESE AND U. S. FILMS

"So we found them two Japs settin' right there in the back of the crowd, watchin' the movies! Somebody asked one of 'em what he thought of American films. You know what he said? He said he thought they were lousy!"

Anyone familiar with the Southwest Pacific during the last war will recognize this little story. It had many variations.

A report from Japan now makes one suspect that the Nipponese fighting man was not as critical of American movies as the stories had it. The Japanese public is flocking to see them as never before. Any sort of jerry-built structure will do for a theatre. Admission fees averaging 100 yen ($2) are avidly paid despite high prices of food and almost everything else. Other foreign movies get the go-by.

To many of them, American movies are the real Voice of America, despite the short-wave programs the State Department beams that way. It is a voice that comes out of the mouths of real people, glamorous, adventurous, or criminal. Considering how the Japanese love American shows, it is fortunate that right prevails and crime does not pay.

Another labor-saving device found in modern homes is short answers.

Henry Wallace told his deluded camp-followers at Philadelphia that he wants peace. That makes it about unanimous so far as the people of the United States are concerned. It wasn't Uncle Sam that sealed the Berlin corridors so that no food could be shipped into the allied zone.

In View Of News Of The World

by J. C. Oetzel, INS Foreign Director

The western powers fight a losing battle at the Belgrade conference in trying to break the Russian stranglehold on the Danube river—the ancient invasion route winding 1,738 miles across Europe. This is the first major postwar conference in which the Soviet bloc has a voting majority against the west, and Russian deputy foreign minister Andrei Vishinsky is enjoying himself.

At the outset he invited the American, British and French delegates to take a walk if they didn't like what Russia is doing along the strategic waterway.

Vishinsky says these are 'new times with new tunes'; he insults the vote-less Austrian delegate; he calls France "a little cockerel" trotting after Britain and America.

The western delegates of course will refuse the new Danube navigation draft treaty freezing them out of a control voice. But there is nothing they can do except toss the question atop the stack of unsolved issues before the United Nations.

The principles of free navigation of international waterways first was established at the 1815 Congress of Vienna, and extended specifically to the Danube by the 1840 St. Petersburg treaty between Russia and Austria.

Under International Control The Blue Danube of story and song officially was put under international control at the 1856 Congress of Paris after the Crimean war.

In 1921 Germany, Russia and several others were tossed out of the commission. International control was limited to Britain, France, Italy and Romania.

Hitler got Germany back on in March, 1938—a minor appeasement which Vishinsky says makes the 1921 treaty invalid.

Britain disagrees, and of course could bring up the embarrassing point of Russia's appeasement of the Nazis in the secret protocol of August, 1939—the agreement that divided Poland.

Hitler won control of the important waterway when he overran the Balkans down to the Black Sea mouth of the river, and Russia grabbed it when her troops sprawled westward when the war-tide turned at Stalingrad far east of the Volga.

Russia agreed to the principle

The Parent Problem

By Gary C. Myers, Ph. D.

ONLY CHILD HAS A HANDICAP

Many teachers, especially in the upper grades and high school, say they usually can spot the only child. They do make some mistakes, however, as an occasional only child excels in most of the ways he is supposed to be lacking.

You probably know some wonderful adults who were only children. When an only child is outstanding for unselfishness and responsibility, his parents must have been unusual in bringing him up, and he must have had adequate play experience with others of his age.

The Only Child

But it is quite obvious that the only child does usually have normal family experiences which normally favor unselfishness in him. Starting as the center of attention of his parents and adoring relatives, he doesn't have to give up this place. Though he may escape some emotional conflicts he might have had if there were at least a second child, he misses the experiences of having to give up a great deal.

Won't Escape Jealousies

Here let me add that he won't escape jealousies. One mother wrote that she decided to have no more than the one child, having read so much about jealousies of the first child after the second arrived. To her I replied: You are wrong. The only child as he grows older may sustain severe jealousies of one or the other parent and of other children who become his playmates, schoolmates and pals. His jealousies may merely revolve about a different pivot than if he had at least one brother or sister.

The only child sees that clothes, playthings and the like are bought for him and not also for another child in the family. And, naturally, he usually gets more things than if there were more children. He will have fewer denials, as a rule. Coming to expect much he will demand more and more as he grows older, and will usually get it. More often than not the only child will grow up in a home of better-than-average income, rendering his opportunities for denials, and later, self-denials less abundant.

Parents Are Handicapped

The parents of the only child are themselves handicapped. They must give up less than if there were more children. They must make fewer adaptations. They have narrower experiences in creative family living. Their range of emotions is not so wide. They have less cultivation of their own personalities. Certainly the parents of several children may gain more in personal and spiritual enrichment, all else being equal, than the parents of an only child. Indeed, within the limits of physical health and income of the parents for reasonable necessities, the larger the family the richer the family life may be for both the parents and children.

The time has passed when the average educated young man and woman desires only one child or none at all. Rather, they would like to have three, four, five or more, their goal being a "Teaching Family." My bulletins, "Teaching Tot To Be Sociable," and "Your Child and His Playmates," may be had in a stamped envelope by writing me at 235 East 45th street, New York, N. Y.

of free navigation in the minor peace treaties after much quarreling with the west, but the allies say her new treaty draft violates it. Vishinsky is quite blunt in saying Russia is the river captain hereafter.

Richard the Lion Hearted was once jailed in a German fort on this river which cuts through Vienna, Budapest and Belgrade.

It was an invasion route for the crusaders and an old saying is "he who controls the Danube controls Europe."

For this reason the deadlock at Belgrade is a vital part of the general East-West struggle being fought in the ruins of Berlin and inside the thick Kremlin walls.

Looking At Life

By Erik Brandeis

It is a bright, cool morning, the beginning of a perfect midsummer day.

I am sitting out in the garden, contented after a good breakfast, with that lazy, soft feeling out of which comes either a nap or a good idea for my column.

What is that I see in the grass below?

A brown beetle of some kind, on its back, but floating in the air just above the ground.

I look again. No, it isn't floating. It is being carried by two little ants, one in front, one in back.

The ants are struggling. The beetle is much bigger than they and ever so much heavier than both of them together.

I am experimenting now. I take a little stick and push the ants away.

But ants are stubborn—and clever.

The maneuver around a bit, probably hoping to fool me. Then they come back, a roundabout way, get back to the beetle and off they go with their prey.

I don't know where they are going. I don't know why they are working so hard on that beetle.

And they, foolish ants, don't know that with one stamp of my foot I could have crushed both them and their beetle.

So much now for the ants and the beetle.

Here is the morning paper. Headline: "180-PASSENGER DOUBLE-DECKED PLANE FLIES U. S."

The story starts "A new giant of the airways, the 180-passenger Lockheed Constitution, spanned the continent today in 10 hours, 19 minutes."

But, the story goes on, this new giant was not trying for any new speed records. It was simply being delivered to the Navy.

Another wonderwork of wondrous man!

Not so wondrous as the atomic bomb, but wondrous indeed.

The atomic bomb, after which a whole new era in history is being named "the atomic age," was promptly turned over to our fighting forces.

This new giant of the air, which may well be the beginning of a new era in aviation, also goes to our fighting forces.

Both the atom and that new plane might well be tremendously important factors in the development of science, of communications, of economics, of health.

Instead, both of them, like most of man's masterworks, are first utilized as instruments of destruction and war.

I looked at a picture of that new plane. A magnificent achievement. Then I thought what one storm could do to that plane with its 180 passengers and its crew of twelve.

Just what one of my feet could have done to those two ants who were carrying that beetle, which was so much bigger than they.

From Me To You

By MESEALL

I am always pleased to read an item that tells people to use their best stuff every day because too many save their best stuff for special occasions . . . we became very conscious of this during the past eight years. Before serving with the Army we received for Christmas one year . . . a large number of shirts. It seemed that everyone in the connection thought of a shirt and when asked what would be an appropriate gift . . . shirts were mentioned. Along came time to go away . . . hundreds of shirts were no longer the style . . . so the "little woman" put away the new shirts for another year. War was over . . . back to the grind and opening of long stored boxes of clothing . . . out came the shirts . . . they actually fell apart after two wearings.

The silver people are now saying that silverware should not be stored if there is any way of keeping it in use or on view . . . The idea, say silvermiths, of taking it out of the vault only on holidays is as wrong as it is old. Sterling silver will outlast two or three generations of continued use, and it improves in looks the more it is used.

With this thought in mind we can go back to our original idea of the shirts . . . it can be proven with best sheets, tablecloths, napkins, bed covers, carving tools and even clothes . . . might better be used than stored . . . But then the village joker says, somewhat apropos . . . his grandmother is 90 and she is begging her friends to send her gifts that would require no dusting.

But the dust didn't have time to settle today down on Meravia street . . . especially near the auto show room of the Lawrence Motor Company . . . hundreds and hundreds of curious people viewed the newest auto creation . . . the TUCKER. What lines, what power . . . what excitement . . . but the question still stands unanswered . . . When will the Tucker be ready for delivery. Officials of the company state that things will soon be moving. We honestly feel they are right for any concern that can stand what the Tucker Corporation has . . . surely can produce a mere car.

The Mountain Labored!

Washington Comment

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—President Truman and the southern Democrats have one thing in common in the 1948 presidential campaign. They are very much concerned over what is going to happen to the south, plus the possibility that Republicans may carry two or three southern states.

This is having two effects. It is causing Mr. Truman to try to work for more harmony by conferring with individual Democratic leaders. And it is causing a lot of southern Democrats to scrutinize the Truman bandwagon with the idea of climbing aboard.

Symptoms of the president's inward disturbance are the conferences being arranged with Democratic leaders by Senator J. Howard McGrath, Rhode Island, chairman of the Democratic national committee.

A further symptom of concern among southern Democrats is the announcement of Senator A. Willis Robertson, Virginia, that he would actively support Mr. Truman.

Robertson is working with Senator Harry Byrd, Virginia. Both are said to be worried that Virginia may go Republican. Fear also is expressed among southern Democrats that North Carolina and Tennessee will go Republican.

Some southerners predict that Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi and possibly Florida and Arkansas and Texas may go for Dixiecrat Candidate J. Strom Thurmond, governor of South Carolina, who probably will carry his own state.

The Draft and Industry—Industry is confronted anew with an old wartime headache—manpower problems arising out of the draft. Selective Service begins Oct. 1, and it will hit employers even harder than expected. The reason is that the draft starts with 25-year-olds, and in that group are many trained workers.

Some firms have taken steps to reduce the impact of the draft through community action. The encouragement of voluntary enlistments reduces the draft quota for each community.

Other employers are dusting off many manpower techniques shelved since V-J Day. Union contracts have to be revised in many cases to conform to re-employment rights guaranteed veterans.

An employer who volunteers or is drafted is entitled to his old job back after his discharge from military service, or a position of similar seniority, status and pay.

Selective service headquarters is expected soon to announce a program for obtaining deferments for certain key workers in essential occupations.

Screening—If no national emergency develops and the military services are held to their present quotas, the fine screening in the peacetime draft this fall is likely to exceed anything this country has seen.

Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, the draft director, estimates that more than five million young men will be registered in order to obtain 70,000 draftees for the army.

In other words, about 99 out of every 100 men registered will be deferred for some reason—veteran's status, marital status, useful and essential employment, a decayed tooth, a fallen arch, or almost anything else will be sufficient.

Nevertheless, Hershey assures that the screening will go forward on a full wartime scale, with every man getting a thorough examination unless automatically deferred.

There are 1,250,000 25-year-olds in the country, but Hershey expects so many deferments that only 8,000 of these will be taken.

The FCC attitude toward quiz shows is a threat to free prices.

Every man is entitled to a decent chance for life, liberty and the pursuit of an $18,000 jackpot. . . . And if it's a crime to give away money the state department owes 99 years on a life sentence.

The FCC says that a quiz show is a gamble but so a covered dish supper and nobody ever got indicted from $18,000.

Some say there is no entertainment in a giveaway show. . . . What do they call swimming in a sea of greenback?

Nobody dances at the reading of a will either but the audience is eager with anticipation.

All I want to know is. . . if this does anything to "stop the music" do I have to give up my telephone?

They Say

WASHINGTON—Federal Security

Administrator Oscar Ewing: "To infer that we are lukewarm in opposition to communism is just pure, unadulterated falsehood."

BELGRADE—Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky rejected a proposal to have a United Nations observer at the current Danubian conference by saying: "We do not need supervision or governors to see that the naughty boys behave themselves. That is a policy for nations that do not exercise sovereign rights."

ST. PAUL, Minn.—Harold Stassen, president of the University of Pennsylvania and erstwhile candidate for the U. S. presidential nomination on the Republican ticket: "It is very important that there be a Republican majority in the United States senate to cooperate with the Republican president. Toward this end every seat will count, as the margin is narrow."

That Quiet In Country?

By PAUL GALLICO

We are in the midst of the rustication season when we flee to the country for a little rest, peace and quiet, and what I want to know is—how do you get it there?

For instance, I am the proprietor of a farm and old stone house in the western or "Washington-Sleep-There" section of New Jersey, except that Washington never slept in my joint. Nobody sleeps there. Maybe I am just an incurable city slicker, but I maintain that taxicabs, buses, square-wheeled trolleys, milk wagons, garbage collectors, homebound drunks and the fire ladders hastening to a blaze, all of a part of the city's nighttime noises, do not engender one-tenth the racket and hullabaloo that goes on about an isolated country farmhouse in the quiet of a summer night.

Heard From Sleep For instance, the other midnight there was no question in my mind, just as I was about to drop off to sleep, that a detachment of paratroopers of a foreign power had come floating down out of the night sky and had landed on my house with all their equipment which included a couple of small howitzers with ammunition therefor, three jeeps and a field ambulance.

When you are thus called upon suddenly to face a sky-borne invasion, you do the best you can. I got out the shotgun, but couldn't find the shells, dropped the shotgun and broke it, fell over a chair and finally went out with considerable gallantry to defend my hearth bare-handed. The origin of the noise was then established as a couple of pears from the big pear tree dropping onto the slate roof and rolling down into the rain gutter.

But this was nothing. At 3:00 a. m. four wrestlers, including Ed "Strangler" Lewis, The Angel, and Yousuf, the Terrible Turk, staged a battle royal on the porch, picking one another up and throwing one another down, heaving one another at each other's heads, rolling, hitting, kicking, gouging and finally beating one another about the ears with iron buckets.

When I went downstairs to arbitrate, there was nobody there, but something four-footed, unidentified but determined, had been rummaging in the garbage can outside the kitchen. I dunno—maybe sounds are exaggerated in the country.

For Further Instance

There is, for further instance, the South American revolution that rages periodically during the night up and down the walls of a shack adjoining the house, over the tin roof and across the attic floor which includes the tramping of heavily booted feet, shouts, cries, curses, sword play and pointed obscenities muttered in a foreign language. Investigation proves this to be merely a couple of hysterical squirrels involved in an altercation over an old walnut.

Then there is the combined baggage bands of the Gordon Highlanders and the Black Watch which are apparently marching and countermarching, parading colors downstairs. This resolves itself into a family of irresponsible swallows nesting in the living room chimney.

Floor Boards Creaking

And if these sounds have not managed to destroy slumber, there is the stark-placed sailor with a patch over one eye and a peg leg, who comes stumping up the stairs carrying a sea chest on one shoulder and a knife in his hand.

When I leap out of bed in a cold sweat and rush forth into the hall to have it out with him once and for all, it turns out that it is only the floor boards creaking as the house cools off from the heat of the day. At least, that is the noise you hear as you stand at the head of the stairs listening.

The oil furnace, starting or stopping, yields the effect of a mild earthquake, the motor running the freezer seems like a dynamo sufficient to supply power to a town of 15,000 population, a mouse giving itself a hair-dressing in the wainscoting sounds like a safe-cracker drilling a hole in a steel door before pouring in the soup, and a little rain on the roof cascading into the gutters resembles the Johnstown flood. Don't YOU hear those things?

JOBS UPON A TIME

Paul Kelly, stage and screen

actor, began his professional career at the age of seven. Later he appeared in such stage productions as Bad Girl and Angel. Paul has been in pictures since 1933. He's a Brooklyn man and his first picture was Magoo. He is now appearing in the New York stage in Command Decision, which has played over 300 performances.

Senator Millard E. Tydings of Maryland, a wealthy leader of the conservative wing of the Democratic party, was re-elected for his fourth term in 1944. Tydings was born in Havre de Grace, Md., and earned a B. S. in mechanical engineering, and a law degree from three years later. He served as private in World War I, coming out as Distinguished Service Medal, the Distinguished Service Cross and three citations. The senator married Eleanor Davies Cheesborough, daughter of Joseph E. Davies, former ambassador to Russia. They have two children.

HOME-BRED COMMUNISTS

The punishment that is most often suggested for our home-grown breed of Communists is for the government of the United States to cause their arrest and after convicting them of conspiracy to overthrow the government—treason, if you will—to decree that they be shipped pronto to Russia, where they are paid for the trip, so all expenses paid for the trip, so that they may enjoy in full measure the delights and privileges under Soviet dominion.

The great difficulty of all this is that the majority of these home-bred Communists are not aliens, they are citizens of the United States. That is where "treason" comes in and where the accusation of "treason" is substantiated the punishment is drastic—death; no half-way measures. These Americans citizens are not being reported. This punishment is limited to aliens found guilty of subversive activities against the government, aliens illegally entering the country and aliens guilty of "moral turpitude."

Russia Does Not Want Them. The other great objection to deportation is that Russia does not want them. They will probably refuse to welcome deportees including United States Nationals and so long as compulsory deportation of other than aliens is impossible, our American Reds could be shipped to Russia only with their own consent and approval. In spite of all their praise of Soviet "democracy" and the superiority of Communism over the sordid Capitalism of the United States, there is not one American

A HOLE IN ONE

Last summer Mom wore a hat with a big hole in the top. She was in the hot sun a long time. The hat shaded her eyes and face but the top of her head got no protection.

Late in the winter her hair came out in handfuls. She had forgotten about the hot sun by that time.

Perhaps it is a good idea to protect the head from hot sunshine. Sunlight in moderation is very good. Too much has some drawbacks.

Girls who expose themselves to strong sunshine may have wrinkled leathery skin some day. If they want to look like a football, they have their choice.

A woman's glory is her hair, but we don't like her glory in the gutter.

Bill says that granddad must have had an awful big hole in the top of his hat, but you know Bill.

Hints On Etiquette

When a young man is seated in his parked car and a girl acquaintance stops just long enough to ask a question, he remains seated in the car. If she steps for a chat he gets out of the car and talks with her.

PAN OF WATER UNDER LIGHT IS BUG KILLER

MANILA—When the bugs start swarming around your porch lights on summer evenings, you might try an old Philippine remedy that's easy and cheap.

The Filipinos fill a basin with water and place it a few inches below the light. They set it on a step-ladder or suspend it from the light with a piece of cord.

A swirling swarm of insects will disappear into the water in a few minutes. Some of the bugs apparently dive in by accident and the rest are attracted by the bulb's reflection in the water. The shinier the pan the better.

Predicts Greek Communist Forces Will Be Destroyed

Sees End Of Grammos Mountain Forces Within Few Weeks

BERLIN, Aug. 9. — (INS) — Dwight P. Griswold, head of the U. S. mission to Greece, predicted that Greek Communist forces in the Grammos mountains will be "entirely destroyed" in a few weeks.

However, he added: "It may be a couple of years before the bandits are cleared out entirely. The duration of the rebellion depends on forces outside which control Greece. One might just as well ask how long it will take to solve the Berlin crisis."

(Ma.) Gen. James A. Fleet, American military advisers to the Greek Army, was quoted in Athens today as saying that Guerilla Chieftain Gen. Markos has "lost the game."

Griswold, a former governor of Nebraska, expressed dissatisfaction with the cooperation given U. S. personnel by Greek government officials. He asserted: "They are unwilling to make hard, tough decisions which are politically unpopular. They are inclined to take the easy road."

He said that the U. S. mission achieved much constructive help in Greece in the form of road and bridge building, port development and the reopening of the Corinth canal.

Griswold is en route back to the U. S. after a year in Greece. He and his wife stopped off in Berlin to visit their daughter, Mrs. John Gayer, who is married to a military government official.

Reviewing the past year in Greece, Griswold said: "The outlook in Greece is greatly improved militarily and economically as compared to a year ago when I arrived. I am very optimistic."

THE WORLD AND THE MUD PUDDLES

Red or fellow traveler who would consider for a moment voluntary exile to the country of his ideals. Does anyone think that the "screwball" of Hollywood, for example, who have grown rich off American contributions to the movie box office, would give up their lives of luxury here, share the black bread and borst of the Russian proletariat and suffer the confiscation of their hoardings? And of what use would these theoretical Marxians be to Stalin and his satraps, except for the wealth that could be added to the Russian Treasury — insignificant in comparison to Russian needs? In fact, they would serve an evil purpose, from the Russian point of view, by serving as illustrations of the affluence possible under crude American capitalism.

San Diegos will remember how they contributed to the deportation of Haywood and Goldman, man and woman, who were forcibly expelled from San Diego by a posse of very angry, mostly worthwhile, San Diegos, when they escorted this pair to the county line at San Onofre and shown a kettle of hot tar and a mass of feathers and were told that it was prepared for them and was about to be applied to their naked bodies, but upon their prayerful appeal and promises to at once leave not only San Diego but the State of California, they would be permitted to go free. They were afterwards forcibly deported and Russia took them. But the Soviets were comparatively new at that time. There had not been any wars or rumors of wars involving their existence. They had successfully done away with the royalty and nobility of Russia and thought that was enough for the present.

Were Bad Citizens

Those two were very bad citizens. They were leading members of the I.W.W., commonly known as non-workers, the initials of their order standing for "I Won't Work." Well, they found out by this heroic method that Russia was not what it was cracked up to be and attempted to return. They are dead now but we have just as dangerous lovers of Russian methods in the United States now and Russia considers them very useful to Stalin right here. Here, through their crackpot evangelism and their liberal financial contributions, they can help along to some slight extent the Russian objective of overthrowing our constitutional government and capitalist system as the major move in the Soviet program for a Communist world.

The home-grown Reds do not want Russia and Russia does not want them. They must be handled like any other domestic nuisance, by legislation curbing their opportunities for evil and providing punishment fitting their crimes.

The United States enters the Danube political picture for the first time in its history because of its stake in all European problems.

Around Hollywood

By RUTH BRIGHAM
 (International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 9.—(INS)—Even Einstein couldn't figure out show business.

Take the fantastic case of Frankie Laine, who is currently filling the huge Coconut Grove in Los Angeles at over $3,500 a week—just a few miles from the spot where he was wowing 'em at $75 a week just a year ago.

The singer, selling many of the same songs in the same way for 15 years, suddenly clicked. But in Frankie's case, it may have been an example of poetic justice.

Big Hearted Frankie
 Seems that Laine was once approached by a girl friend who asked him to help her get a spot in the nightclub where he'd just been hired. He did. And after two nights the manager fired him and hired her.

No hard feelings. Frankie simply moved on to another spot, where he introduced a song that he'd picked up from the gal. He learned it just the way she sang it, which was quite wrong.

But he didn't know that. So he gave out with his version of a ditty that nobody had ever paid any attention to before—"That's My Desire."

It made the song. It made Frankie Laine—and it also has made him on the way to becoming a millionaire in a year's time.

And that, my friend, is show business.

Plenty Of Athletics
 The picture business is just loaded with many athletic champions among the top stars.

There's Sonja Heine, skating; Johnny Weissmuller, Esther Williams and Buster Crabbe, swimming; Bruce Bennett (Herman Brix), weight man; Cornel Wilde, fencing; Bob Ryan, intercollegiate boxer. Football All-Americans include Aaron Rosenberg and Jess Hibbs, ex-Southern Californians now assistant directors; Nick Lukats, ex-Notre Dame, and Johnny Mack Brown, ex-Alabama.

Edward Has Fun

Every now and then Edward Arnold likes to go on a little binge, and to heck with his ulcers. The best binge spot he knows is the Bahamian Grove, retreat for males who can afford it, not far from San Francisco.

Arnold, there recently, says he eats what he pleases, et cetera and runs around in his shorts. No women around and no dressing up required.

One of his playmates at the grove is former President Herbert Hoover.

GARDEN NOTES

As soon as the tops die down, potatoes are ready to be dug up. Some home gardeners prefer to dig them as they are needed for the table rather than to store them in the cellar.

When cabbage heads show signs of cracking they should be bent over to break the root on one. This assists in checking their growth.

Pick the mature fruits of eggplant, thus giving the younger ones all the available energy to develop. Place a thin board or shingle under the fruits of watermelons and muskmelons to prevent damage by wireworms.

If the outer leaves of Swiss chard have become very large, cut out the stems and use them separately. The stems can be cooked and used as asparagus in salads or creamed like celery.

Lettuce and radish seeds may still be sown for a late crop and will do especially well in a cold frame if the soil is good.

CHOPPING STRAW HAS ADVANTAGES

Straw to be used for bedding will be improved by running it through an ensilage chopper (set to cut about as long as possible) and blowing it in the mow.

A buckrake and chopper set up outside with the blower pipe leading into the mow, has proved an ideal arrangement. Chopping straw doubles the capacity of mows over loose straw. Chopped straw takes up about the same space as baled straw, and is more easily handled.

Chopping into the mow often could obviate the need for a stack in the barnyard. The chopped straw would be dry and more convenient for use.

Chopped straw absorbs twice as much liquid as long straw, making it doubly valuable, since the liquid is the richest part of the manure.

Many farmers report cut straw stays under the cattle better as bedding, keeping them clean and comfortable with a limited supply. It makes manure easier to remove and spreads evenly, and when used on sod will not smother the grass or rake up in the hay.

NEW BEAN BEETLE HORDE ON THE WAY

The second generation Mexican bean beetles now making their appearance can be controlled by dusting or spraying with rotenone.

Either rotenone or DDT will control three different kinds of cabbage worms—diamond back, loopers, and imported worms, all of them a problem to vegetable growers, but use of DDT must stop at least two weeks before harvest, as it is a poison. Calcium arsenate or lead arsenate, used according to directions, will control tomato hornworms, while 40 percent nicotine sulphate will control black aphids which are reported ruining flower clusters in some lima bean plantings.

Ducks have an almost telescopic eyesight. They can focus their eyes for near or far vision.

Berlin Papers Report Red Army Fortifies Berlin

Feverishly Fortifying Boundaries Of Occupation Zone Says Report

By OMER ANDERSON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

BERLIN, Aug. 9.—Berlin newspapers reported today that the Red army is feverishly fortifying the boundaries of its occupation zone with the help of conscripted German labor battalions.

The reports said that Russian tank units, equipped with rocket guns of the "Katuska" type, have been rushed to the western zone borders.

Publication of the reports in western sector newspapers coincided with a renewed Russian attempt to convince Germans that the western allies are preparing to abandon Berlin.

Continues After Dark
The British-licensed telegraph said that work on the Russian fortifications continues long after dark nightly. It added that Russian troops supervising the construction set off 25 forest fires last month.

The reports placed Russian military strength in the Soviet zone at some 550,000 men. Of these there are eight infantry divisions with 12,000 men each, and five elite motorized divisions, equipped with rocket weapons, of the same strength.

In addition, the Russians were said to have five infantry divisions with 30,000 men each, and 60,000 navy personnel just outside their zone.

These are reportedly stationed at Rostenburg, Rostock and other Baltic ports, within easy rail reach of Berlin.

Soviet Marshal Konstantin K. Rokossovsky, hero of Stalingrad, was said to have been named new commander of the west Russian forces, taking over Russian armies between Minsk and Jasterburg, in East Prussia.

ALL IS KNOWING NOW
CLINTON, Mass.—While Edward Lewis of West Virginia was driving through here the carburetor overflowed and caught fire. As Lewis stood helplessly by, a spectator ran into a restaurant, asked a handful of coffee grounds from an urn and dashed it on the motor, quickly putting the fire out.

TESTIFIES ON RED SPY RING

FORMER EDITOR OF THE Communist Daily Worker, Louis Budenz, who quit the party to return to Catholicism, testifies before the Senate Investigating Committee in Washington. Confirming the existence of a Red spy ring headed by the self-admitted espionage agent, Elizabeth Bentley, the former propagandist declared that the Communist Party in America is a "fifth column of Soviet Russia." North Mercer St. Property Owners Show Little Interest

Slow To Act On Proposal To Straighten Border Line Of City And County

Property owners of Neshannock township, bordering North Mercer street, north of a point between Euclid and Sheridan avenue, are not showing much interest in the city's desire to take over that portion lying east of the center line of the street. Were property owners to sign up, council points out the street would eventually be improved.

So far only one property owner has signed for that portion to be taken into the city.
Today Solicitor Robert White pointed out that Frank Stevens, owner of land on the west side of North Mercer street, between Cienmore boulevard and Meyer avenue, had agreed to sign, providing the city gave him the dirt when the street was improved.
Mr. White said that this was beyond the city's right, because the county and township had a say in the matter.
Finally, it was decided by council, upon the suggestion of the mayor, John F. Haven, that County Commissioner Harvey Bush be requested to attempt to expedite property owners signing up for that portion to be taken into the city.

Mr. White explained that in fixing the borders of the city, the lawmakers following the donation land line, instead of the center line of North Mercer street, something which was not discovered until recently.
WOMAN IS INJURED
Mrs. Veda Martin, of 23 North Mercer street, suffered fractures of the fifth and sixth ribs, in an automobile collision in Youngstown Sunday afternoon. She was admitted to the Jameson Memorial hospital for treatment at 10 o'clock Sunday evening for treatment.

Indiantown Gap Awaits Influx Of State Guard

Next Saturday Will See Start Of Training Of More Than 10,000 National Guard

INDIANTOWN GAP, Pa., Aug. 9. (AP)—The Indiantown Gap military reservation is being put into shape today for an influx Saturday of more than 10,000 Pennsylvania National Guardsmen starting two weeks of training.

The 20th Division, backbone of the PNG, will spearhead the training in line with the war department's order designating the unit as integral part of the mobile striking force for the defense of the continental United States.

All units will be self-sustaining in the field including operation of individual mess, according to Maj. Gen. Daniel B. Strickler, commander.

Schedule Set Up
He has set up a training schedule calling for 64 hours of basic and general subjects, 24 hours of tactical instruction and 20 hours of tactical work. Rookies will be given 16 hours of basic training in military fundamentals.

All organizations reporting to the firing range will engage in a two and a half day march and bivouac. All enlisted men will be given eight hours of tests to determine individual proficiency on these subjects.

Strickler said instruction assignments for units were: the 110th regiment, Washington, combat formations; the 112th regiment, Erie, chemical warfare; the 111th regiment, Philadelphia, defense against air and mechanical attack, demotions, disturbances and martial law; the 109th regiment, Scranton, interior guard and combat, country duty, military sanitation, first aid and hygiene; and division artillery, Philadelphia, maps and aerial photos.

Bees usually burrow during the day and feed principally at night.

Good Taste

By FRANCINE MARREL

"Is it polite to refuse to dance with a man who is a poor dancer?" (2) Is it improper for a girl to encircle a man's neck while dancing? (3) Should a man ever refuse to allow a member of the stag line to cut in? (4) Must a guest dance with the hostess? (5) Is it permissible for a couple to leave the table to dance at a dinner dance?"

Answer: No girl should curtsy refuse to dance with a man. If she knows him to be a poor dancer or has any other objection to him, her refusal should be in the most polite terms to avoid hurting or insulting him in any way. She should remember that by asking her to dance with him he has given her special notice. Such replies as "I'm sorry but I have given this dance to someone else," or "Let's sit this one out," should discourage the unwelcome swain without needlessly embarrassing him.

After telling one man that you are going "to sit this one out," do not dance with another man.

(2) Yes. She should lightly rest her hand on his upper right arm. An encirclement looks as if she is afraid he will escape her clutches.

(3) No. When "cutting in," is the rule at a dance, a man should relinquish his partner, no matter how unwilling he is.

(4) Yes. Even if she is elderly or is too busy to dance, he must show her courtesy by asking her nonetheless.

(5) Yes, but they should dance only between courses and after the dinner is finished.

Question: What should the bride's mother wear at a formal afternoon wedding?

Answer: An afternoon dress of a shade becoming to her, neither white, which belongs to the bride alone on her day, nor black which is much too somber for such a joyous occasion.

Present your problems to Miss Marrel who will promptly send personal replies to questions from readers enclosing stamped, addressed envelopes.

CARE OF PETS
To avoid jeopardizing household pets when you use rat poison to destroy these pests, place the poison along the rat runways—generally along side of buildings and fences. Then place a board leaning against the fence or building so that there is a space beneath it large enough to admit the rat, but too small to permit the entry of a family pet.

Report Russian Teacher In U.S. Ready To Talk

Will Tell Why He Refuses To Return Home—Word Battle Develops

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—(INS)—The second of three missing Russian teachers was in FBI custody today reportedly "ready to tell all" about why he refuses to return home.

The Russian, Michail Ivanovich Samarin, turned himself in to the FBI in New York Sunday, obviously seeking "protection" from Soviet officials.

Rep. Karl Mundt, chairman of the un-American activities committee, said he would give Samarin a chance to tell his story "as soon as possible."

He said Samarin, who disappeared on the eve of his return to Russia, had decided to "throw himself on the mercy of the country" in an effort to remain in the United States.

Word Battle

Samarin's emergence from hiding was the latest turn in the word battle of white and red Russians which Saturday saw Mrs. Okasana Stepanova "rescued" from anti-communists by Soviet consulate officials.

Mrs. Okasana, who Mundt said vanished when she was about to reveal "Soviet plans for world aggression," was reported "resting" at the Russian consulate in New York.

She was taken there Saturday amid claims of "rescue" and counter-claims of "kidnaping."

Mundt's committee has asked the state department whether it could legally subpoena the consulate to produce the middle-aged teacher for questioning.

Samarin appeared at the FBI office reportedly on the advice of friends who urged him to seek "protection."

Reynolds Search Being Directed Towards Mexico

Man Is Held In Pittsburgh Case, But Father Is Not Yet Located

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 9.—(INS)—The search for Raymond E. Reynolds, 30, wanted in connection with an alleged $800,000 housing scandal in Pittsburgh, was being directed toward Mexico today.

Meanwhile, federal authorities were prepared to pick up Reynolds' son, Raymond L. Reynolds, 24, as soon as he is released on bond from county custody.

Young Reynolds, who, along with his father, had been the object of a nationwide search since July 30, was arrested by the Allegheny county sheriff at his wife's home Saturday.

He was secretary of the Reynolds Construction Co., Inc. The older Reynolds was president and treasurer of the concern, which allegedly collected money from people to build "dream homes" but never erected them.

United States Attorney Elliott W. Finkel said Sunday that he had received a tip that the older Reynolds might be headed for Mexico. The unidentified tipster told Finkel that Reynolds had shown him a brief case containing $50,000 and told him he was going to Mexico.

A Mexican customs sticker was found last week in a cottage occupied by Reynolds shortly before he disappeared.

Personal Income Reaches New High

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—(INS)—The commerce department reported that the annual rate of personal income in the United States increased in June to an all-time high of $11 billion 900 million dollars.

The income level in June was four billion 700 million dollars above the May figure. The previous all-time record was $10 billion 400 million dollars set last January.

The commerce department ascribed the income jump to the absence of strikes, effects of "third round" wage increases and the high livestock prices. It said that the income tax cut was also a contributing factor.

Jaw Injury Saves Killer From Noose

Newsagent To Live Because Injuries To Jaw Make It Impossible To Hang Him

LONDON.—(INS)—Wife-killer William John Gray made British legal history recently by being reprieved because it was "impracticable" to carry out the sentence of death by hanging.

The 33-year-old Bournemouth newsagent who was found guilty of the murder of his wife, Ursula Marjorie Joyce Gray, was told in his death-cell at Winchester Prison that he is to live because injuries to his jaw have made it impossible to hang him.

An official statement from Britain's Home Office said: "The Home Secretary (Clement E. Attlee) has recommended a reprieve for William John Gray, who was sentenced to death at Winchester Prison on March 10 for the murder of his wife."

"Medical examination shows that the injury to the prisoner's jaw renders it impossible to carry out the execution."

Mrs. Gray, 28, a cleaner employed at Harns airport, was shot in the back by her husband while walking through the airfield on December 24. After shooting her, Gray shot himself, fracturing his jaw.

The trial, at which Gray pleaded guilty, was subsequently adjourned. An official of Winchester Prison said: "I have never, in a long experience, previously heard of a reprieve being granted because of injuries to a condemned man's jaw."

One Other Similar Case
There is only one other case in British legal history where it was found that the authorities could not hang a man.

Back in 1886 John Lee, 'the man they could not hang,' was reprieved after three unsuccessful attempts to hang him.

Lee had been convicted for the murder of a Miss Keyes and was brought to Exeter Jail for execution.

The rope was adjusted, the burial service read, the signal given, but the drop would not function.

This happened three times. After half an hour it was decided to postpone the execution and Lee's sentence was subsequently commuted to life imprisonment.

Rumors and legends conferred on Lee mysterious and mystical powers. However, an official investigation proved that rain had caused the wood of the scaffold to swell, thus preventing the trap from dropping.

WAGE COMMITTEE ELECTED AT U.S.A. SESSIONS HERE

burg, Pa., president of the Pennsylvania Industrial Union Council, "State Legislation" was the subject of his address. He was emphatic in his denunciation of the "records" of a few congressmen now in office and urged the defeat of these men in the coming election.

Mr. Boyer said: "In 1947 alone there were ten anti-labor bills passed." Briefly he cited the bills and what they mean to the laboring man of today. "Pennsylvania is always in a difficult state to predict what will happen in an election," he stated, "but it is up to us to be at the polls to change the outlook. The records of the past speak for themselves, and they will continue to be reactionary unless we get busy."

Need For Action
"Get behind the CIO policy," he continued. "This is no time for wishful thinking. Get the records of the congressmen, study them, see for yourselves. You need a political action committee. Build the reserve, for in spite of everything there is much work to be done. And in addition there is a third party to defeat, and this we must!"

In conclusion, Mr. Boyer reminded the assembly: "The people throughout the United States—throughout the world in fact—will always cherish the name and memory of Franklin Delano Roosevelt for the service and work he has done. Let us turn our eyes to the sun, and with a fervent hope in our hearts for freedom, accept this challenge of those who would dare to hope for the defeat of trade unions. They shall not succeed!"

Discusses P. A. C. Activities
PAC activities in western Pennsylvania and eastern Ohio were discussed by Michael Petrak of Tarantum, Pa., director of PAC in this district. Mr. Petrak cited the need for workers in this cause. He urged efforts to increase the women vote this fall. "Do a good job in PAC in '48," he said.

Mr. Graciar called upon Joseph Moloney, director of District No. 4, of Buffalo, N. Y., to speak on workmen's compensation, and to tell why his compensation plan in his district proved successful. Four years was needed to get the plan into perfect working order. He called upon his committee, Frank Winters, chairman, and Miss Marian Polok, secretary-treasurer, to state the details of the plan.

Other Speakers
Other speakers on the afternoon and evening sessions of the conference were: Sam Neff of Ellwood City, candidate for state senator of the 47th senatorial district; Andrew Katcher, candidate for congress of the 29th congressional district; James Kennedy of Erie, candidate of the 28th congressional district.

Rev. Fr. Albert M. Inteso, assistant pastor of St. Vitus church, closed the conference with prayer, after Chairman Graciar had officially brought the conference to a close.

Morning Session
Morning sessions at 10 o'clock of the conference were taken up with the individual section meetings for the election of the wage policy committee. Later the speakers heard in assembly was Frank Burke of Pittsburgh, Pa., director of the recently established safety committee of the U. S. A. He emphasized the big and small hazards prevalent in the mills and factories of the nations, with due emphasis on the health condition existing. He explained in detail the program and aims of this committee.

Saturday Afternoon
On Saturday afternoon an excellent address was given by James B. Carey, secretary-treasurer of the C. I. O., of Washington, D. C. In addition to citing of the need of the need of P. A. C. expansion,

Letter Received From Local Man In Rome, Italy

Frank Gillett of Florence avenue, has received a letter from Raymond Peluso, now visiting in Rome, Italy.

Conditions are improving, Mr. Peluso states, and his trip across the Atlantic by plane was very pleasant. In Rome, Italy, he visited his two brothers, Benjamin and Joseph, for the first time in 28 years. Also he visited Dr. Commendatore Berardelli, a minister of justice in Rome, who is a very close friend of Mr. Gillett.

Mr. Peluso wrote many letters to his relatives in Italy, during the campaign when the Italian people were trying to defeat the Communists. The pleas from America were listened to, and the Democrats were victorious, at the subsequent election. Then Mr. Peluso decided to visit all the people that he had sent pleas and letters to.

Mr. Peluso left for Italy on July 29, and expects to return sometime in September.

Man Who Shot Them Is Later Killed By State Police Inside Barricaded Home
YOUNGSTOWN, Pa., Aug. 9.—(INS)—The tiny town of Youngstown, near Latrobe, was making arrangements today to bury its only two peace officers who were fatally-shot in the line of duty.

J. Thomas Caslin, 54, burgess and constable, and Eugene Murphy, 45, justice of the peace, were shot down Saturday night when they attempted to serve a warrant charging assault and battery on William A. Smith, 38.

Smith was subsequently killed by State police inside his barricaded home.

The two peace officers went to the Smith home to serve the warrant at the request of Smith's 36-year-old wife, Genevieve, who said her husband had threatened her life.

Ignore Warning
She had fled the two-story frame home, taking their three children with her.

Caslin and Murphy ignored her "he'll shoot you warning" and went to the house to serve the warrant. Only Caslin was armed—with a small .35 calibre revolver.

Smith refused them admittance and barricaded himself in the house. While Murphy sought entrance by another door, Smith shot Caslin with a borrowed .30 calibre rifle and then shot Murphy.

State police were summoned and surrounded the house. A gun battle ensued and when officers forced their way past the barricade, Smith was dead.

Smith had been employed as a laborer at the American Locomotive company in Latrobe.

All-Stars-Clowns Clash Tuesday In One Of Season's Highlights

The famous Indianapolis Clowns of the Negro American league will play the City League All Stars Tuesday in what promises to be the best baseball attraction in New Castle for this year. The game is set for 7:30 p. m. under the stars at F. J. Flaherty Memorial field.

The "Clowns" came to New Castle direct from their eastern tour which featured them at Yankee stadium, Shibe Park, Griffith stadium, Newark's Ruppert stadium and Forbes field. The crowds at these parks have been terrific and the prices were scaled from $3.50 down. In their only appearance for this year in New Castle the price is $1. There will be no reserved seats, so it will be first come, first served.

With Reese "Goose" Tatum as the one and only first baseman in the lineup, the "Clowns" rate with any club in baseball today. The "Golden Goose" with his 84-inch reach, really puts on a show that is out of this world. If "Goose" can't do it with a first baseman's glove, it can't be done. Seeing is believing so come out to Flaherty field and see for yourself.

In addition to "Goose", the Clowns offer "King Tut" and his sidekick "Juggling Joe" Taylor. These two can be depended upon to show the fans one of the best "pepperball" exhibitions ever displayed on any diamond, plus their hilarious stunts which has the stands rocking with laughter and applause. Despite the fact that he's up to his hilarious tricks every moment he is on the field, King Tut—and this is his real name—is a star player in his own right as a first baseman of unusual ability, but the Clowns use him almost exclusively to keep the fans howling.

There is every reason to believe that this game should set a new attendance record at the Flaherty field. All money made on this game will be used to give the City League baseball players a banquet later on in the year, something they richly deserve after giving the fans of New Castle throughout the year a lot of good baseball. The banquet will be the fans' way of saying thanks, and to say thanks all they need do is to buy a ticket to see the Indianapolis Clowns play the City League All Stars on Aug. 10.

A public report will be made on the profits for the game about a week after the game is played and all expenses are paid.

Howard (Peck) Houston (left) and his catcher, Walter Eversmith, both of the Universal A. A., will form the battery for the City League All-Stars tomorrow night when the local team meet the Indianapolis Clowns at F. J. Flaherty Memorial field. These players have been instrumental in keeping the Universals at the top of the City circuit heap.

Chiefs Spit With Youngstown Colts

Rezack Winner Saturday, Bow To Vestal On Sunday

Jerry "Specs" Rezack, the Akron fire-ball artist, pitched the New Castle Chiefs to a 7 to 3 victory over the Youngstown Colts Saturday night, for the Chiefs third straight win in as many days, but young Tommy Vestal the nemesis of the local, tossed the Chiefs yesterday with a neatly spun three-hitter, and Youngstown won 4 to 1.

Today the Chiefs are still four percentage points ahead of the Colts and are in seventh place. Youngstown by winning Sunday salvaged one of the three games played here.

Double-Header Thursday
Tonight the Chiefs open a three-game series at Uniontown, returning here next Thursday for a double-header scheduled with the Vandergrift Flyers, the first game starting at 8:30 o'clock. The Chiefs will be idle next Friday owing to the big All-Star football game at Taggart Stadium. Vandergrift will be here for a Saturday night game, and then the Johnstown club moves in for three games—Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

The Chiefs in the next three days face the three top clubs.

Reckless in Round
Reckless, the red-hot curve ball specialist, had the Youngstown Colts at his mercy Saturday night, heaving a very smart four-hitter, and causing seven of the Colts to whiff the bases. He walked six, but was never in any serious trouble. New Castle pounded Kueh for nine hits, with Jack Pitt leading the parade with three for four trips—a pair of doubles and a single.

The Chiefs got a one-run lead in the first inning as Glenn Burns smote a Kueh pitch for a home over the left-field fence. Youngstown tied it up in the fourth and the Chiefs walked it in the last of the fourth. Youngstown got two in the fifth to lead 3 to 1, but the Chiefs reared right back with a three-run attack in the last of the fifth and went ahead 5 to 3. In the New Castle fifth Muldoon tripled, Pitt doubled, Carpelotti doubled and Kueh gave up three walks, the bases being full when the inning ended.

Reckless in Round
Reckless not only hurled a great game, on four hits, but turned sharper in the eighth inning and smote a Kueh pitch for a healthy home run over the left field wall. Reckless by winning Saturday notched his third win for New Castle, against three defeats. Reckless has pitched two wins at home having tossed the Oilers on a five-hitter 3 to 0 game here July 27.

Outside of the fifth inning Reckless was master all the way. Re-

Murphy Keen Student Of Grid Game

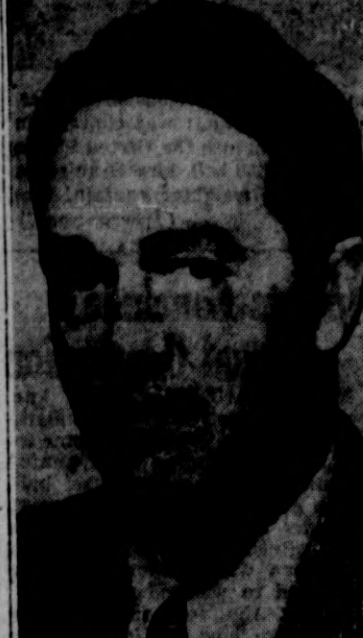

J. Russell Murphy, backfield coach at the University of North Carolina, has always taught the single-wing system of football, but like the thorough student of the game he is, has also made an exhaustive study of the "T".

Murphy is at Slippery Rock State Teachers College this week as one of the grid clinic conductors there and will handle the West All-Stars in the big high school battle slated for under the new lights at Taggart Field Friday night.

The N. C. U. mentor is a graduate of the University of Colorado class of 1923, and went from there to Columbia where he received his M. A. degree.

Too small for college football, he nevertheless made his letter in baseball and basketball. His first love, however, was the grid sport and he became a deep student of the game while quite young.

Coeched at Mansfield, O., high school for ten years and made a remarkable record. He developed such college stars as Inwood Smith, Ohio State All-American, Frank

J. RUSSELL MURPHY

Murphy, whose excellent scouting of the Buckeye left the Big Red to move to North Carolina, he brought Murphy with him. He has developed such backs as Walt Scholl and Hal McCullough of Cornell, Charlie Justice, Jim Camp, Walt Pupa, Hoses Rodgers and others of the Tarheels.

An indefatigable worker, Murphy has compiled many interesting records of the game and is a stout believer in motion pictures to illustrate mistakes and after formations. Noted for his keen scouting eyes, he has observed for many college teams and for the Green Bay Packers.

Sons Of Italy Take Loop Crown

Defeat West Alliquippa Entry Sunday, 9-5, Behind Hurling Of T. Capp

The Sons of Italy softball team defeated the West Alliquippa Sons of Italy yesterday 9-5 in a playoff game for the league championship.

T. Capp was on the mound for the locals and gave up only five hits in downing the valley team. The locals collected a total of 14 bingles off the offerings of T. Dantonio who was later relieved by F. Dantonio.

The locals got off to a four-run lead in the first inning and came back with five more in the seventh for their nine runs. T. Capp pitched hitless ball for five innings and the Alliquippa boys got two runs in the seventh, one in the eighth and added two more in the ninth but could not catch up.

Leading the hitting for the locals were Greg Ross with a grand slam home run, Al DiMuccio with a home run and Tempy with three bingles.

Best for the losers was Ciccone with a double for their only extra-base hit. The New Castle Sons of Italy travel to West Alliquippa on Wednesday for another game and provided they win, they will meet the winners of the Rochester-Bever Falls game in the championship playoff.

Rowing Showdown Today As Olympics Continue

HENLEY-ON-THAMES, Eng., Aug. 9.—(INS).—The Olympic rowing championships will reach a showdown today when the first of seven finals will be held upon Henley's sedate bosom.

Twenty-one finalists are contending for the highest honor within the gift of five continents and the seven seas.

Another slight "situation" developed at Henley along with the disqualification of the victorious United States 400-meter relay team at Wembley stadium on charges of violating the baton-passing rule.

A protest lodged by crew coach Allen Wals to the course of the future. Wals submitted only after being threatened with expulsion from the official zone around the finish line.

The Americans were front-running in this one only to be called back when the Italian and French boats collided, and Yanks lost out in the re-run.

Wals' complaint cited what he termed "ridiculous inconsistency" in recalling the pair-oared heat because of the collision plus the failure of the officials to do so when an American boat was involved the next time.

Only Turnout
This incident, along with the rowing protest over the relay sailing, created the only turnout of a singularly rancorous Olympic today.

Both are generally expected to be speedily forgotten in the sculling and sweep-oaring races with an impending climax provided in the eight-oared event.

In this classic, the feats of stroke Don Hime and his Washington Huskies at Berlin may be repeated by Ian Turner and the California Bears.

The Bears are the favorites in the three-crew final along with Great Britain and Norway.

The United States also reached the final in the fours with coxswain which opens today's program, but its semi-final time was slower than Italy's and Denmark's by more than 27 seconds.

The third American survivor is the Washington four without coxswain which is given an equal chance with the Swiss, and slightly favored over Denmark.

Conditions are not too highly regarded with the result that the crowd is not expected to exceed 25,000. Prospective rain is one deterrent and five dollars for the 1900-meter finish zone is another.

Jack Kelly's stunning defeat in the single sculls Saturday left the finale among the surprising G. E. Rizzo of Uruguay, Mervyn Wood of Australia and R. Gatsaka of Italy a little empty too.

Some followers of the Cleveland Indians think Larry Doby, Negro centerfielder, will be one of the stars of the American league in a few years.

City-County Golf Title Is At Stake

Extend Date For Playing Of First Matches Until Next Wednesday

Due to the fact that a large number of the city's golfing fraternity were in Cleveland yesterday for the baseball game, the date for the playing of the first match in the City-County Title tourney has been extended to Wednesday.

Several interesting matches have already been played. Pete Dimco eliminated Louis Malls, by shooting a par round; while his brother, Don, produced a one over par round of 73 to eliminate Fred Lombardi. "Tippy" Lombardi won from Sid Lucas, one up.

Another good match resulted when Fred Broad and Robert Hay, medalists in the qualifying round, clashed. Broad winning out on the 19th hole. Charley Perrotta won from Ed Kardish by shooting a 73, while George Hahn, Schneider, Lech, Pezi, Bukowski, Rosati, and Piatek drew byes in their first round.

In other matches, Frank "Fat" Morella lost to Bob Weber on the 21st hole, and Ben Ciccone defeated Ed Mahas. George Sargent had Francis Clausen, five down with five to go, but Clausen won the next five holes, forcing Sargent to go to the 19th hole to win.

In the second flight, John Vansky won from Ben Gociano by shooting a 76.

Manager "Tis" Rodenbaugh of the Johnson Bronze Jay-Bee club today announced that his team will use the field of the Duka D'Abuzzi city leaguers in play-off tilts this week.

These games include the New Galilee game Thursday, the battle with the Ellwood Vets Friday and the Saturday game with the Ellwood Vets.

DONS BEAT COLTS
PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 9.—(INS)—Ben Agajanian's magic foot booted out the winning margin for the Los Angeles Dons' 21 to 21 victory over the Baltimore Colts last night in Portland's opening pro football game.

Some 15,000 fans saw the mid-summer exhibition in the Melton stadium as the weighty Dons piled up a 30-7 halting lead. But the Colts put on a final-quarter drive that all but turned the tables on the beefy Californians.

SOFTBALL TONIGHT
The following games will be played in the city softball league tonight: Red's Dairy vs. United at Gaston, Campoli and Horehler; Local 1294 vs. Pearsons at Lehigh, Benigas and Quinto; Friendlys vs. Shadyide, Dean park. CAMBRIDGE SPRINGS, Pa., Aug. 9.—(INS)—First string quarterback Charley Seabright of the Pittsburgh Steelers will don his uniform for the first time this season today after ending a week-long holdout.

Seabright came to terms with the club Sunday. While his salary was not announced, it is believed he received a raise over last year.
